As a freelancer for print and electronic media I work for various media in the German speaking area. I.e. radio Corax. Corax is a non commercial radio in Germany/Halle, and member of Community Media Forum Europe.

I am a Swiss freelance reporter, editor and producer living and working in Budapest since many years. By background I am a trained journalist for print and electronic media, presently freelancing for the German speaking media Switzerland, Austria and Germany. My native language is German but I also speak and write in English and Hungarian. Paralelly I am also managing the Manush foundation which is dedicated to the education of socially disadvantaged youth, exp. Roma. Our programme is to provide media education at secondary schools.
