RADIO CORAX
FREIES RADIO IM RAUM HALLE
AUF UKW 95.9

Radio CORAX is a Noncommercial Local Radio in Halle. The association CORAX e.V. had been working since 1993 on the development of such kind of medium structure in Halle. Since the local government of Saxony-Anhalt changed the media law in 1996/97 and gave an FM-licence and the broadcasting allowance to CORAX in 1999 the radio association in Halle grew fastly. When Radio CORAX started its daily broadcasting on July, 1st, 2000, there were about 80 people working in the radio. Now there are about 200 people who more or less regularly create programmes, most of them are volunteers. With about 90 regular transmissions Radio CORAX is the biggest non-profit radio in East Germany.

Born in Leipzig in 1979, Christiansen started to walk around and making noise. After his first contacts with Punkrock-music his life turned into worse. He successfully tried to complete his studies in Italian Linguistics and German as a foreign language in 2011. Meanwhile he spent a lot of time in making music, organizing concerts, playing and coaching football, working as a cook and doing some radio shows. In 2011 he started to work in the field of Project-Management at Radio CORAX.
