

Towards an Europe of shared social responsibilities Challenges and strategies

Introduction

Gilda Farrell

Part I – Justice, sustainability, democracy. The challenges of shared social responsibility today

Shared Social Responsibility: reflections on the need for and supply of “responsible” patterns of social action

Claus Offe

From individual responsibility to ‘shared’ social responsibilities: concepts for a new paradigm

Lorenzo Sacconi

Shared social responsibility as a key concept in managing the current interregnum

Mark Davis

From Individualism to Interdependence: A Basis for Shared Social Responsibilities

Mark Davis

What is commonly understood under “shared social responsibility”

Arne Scholz

Shared responsibilities and future generations: beyond the dominant concepts of justice

Maja Göpel

Addressing poverty: a Shared Social Responsibility

Seán Healy and Brigid Reynolds

Poverty and rights. Moving beyond the rhetoric of misfortune and blame to lay the foundations for shared social responsibility

Alessandra Sciurba

Part II – Deliberative processes, multi-player governance, new competences. Strategies for sharing knowledge and social responsibilities

Multi-stakeholder governance for effectively sharing social responsibility (social contracts, deliberative democracy and endogenous conformity)

Lorenzo Sacconi

Building up knowledge in the context of the approach based on “shared responsibilities” for social cohesion

Jean-Claude Barbier

Fundamental rights and shared social responsibilities: exploring their complementarity

Federico Oliveri

Equal participation: making shared social responsibility work for everyone

Anna Coote

Co-production as a vehicle for sharing social responsibilities

Anna Coote

Managing shared social responsibilities: an institutionalist viewpoint

Bachir Mazouz – Nourredidine Belhocine

The role of education in the context of shared social responsibilities

Klavdija Cernilogar – Maarten Coertjens